Skidmore: Developers pay same

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

The committee, appointed by the Antioch Village Board, to consider school impact fees to be assessed on future development, is expected to bring several optional plans before the board at a scheduled Dec. 7 meeting.

"We are in agreement that all developers should be assessed under the same fee rate, regardless of the value of the homes in the development," said Don Skidmore.

The value of an acre of land in the village is now at $111,000, while the same size plot of land in the unincorporated areas is valued between $45-$50,000.

The present fee structure is based on student yield, the assessed valuation of the land in relation to the school size.

The committee is also in agreement that the present rate is too low in light of the impending influx of students into the school system with all the new developments on the boards.

Skidmore presented a plan based on the market value which will be restudied by the committee concerning the impact of apartments compared to single family dwellings.

Trustee Don Amundsen, who chaired the meeting this week, Trustee Mabel Lou Weber and school superintendents, Gary Allen, ACHS, and Skidmore, Dist. 34 are on the committee.

All the school districts in the Antioch area were represented at the meeting.

The ultimate plan will also be brought before the boards of all the area municipalities that have children in the Antioch school system.

Heron Harbor to be huge development

The public is invited to take a walk through the 400 acres scheduled to be the Heron Harbor development, west of Ric. 59 and south of Ric. 173, at 9 a.m., on Saturday, Dec. 2.

The Fogelson Development Corp. is planning on building between 450 and 500 townhomes and single family dwellings with the start of construction set for this coming spring.

The PUD development is now in the concept stage with most of the zoning already set. There is a small section now zoned B3 which the developers are expected to ask to be rezoned to R5 for the townhomes that are scheduled to be built there.

The concept is now at the planning board to be considered on Friday, Dec. 22.

Then Fogelson will have to have all zone variances finished before meeting village approval.

"There is a small area that is zoned for commercial use near the development which Fogelson has shown no interest in as of yet," said Antioch Mayor Robert Wilton.

Over 2,000 items now at museum

The Lakes Region Museum, which depends on historical donations, now has more than 2,000 exhibits.

Joining the list of life members are Andy and Kay Lynch, Frank E. Split and Frank and Mary Beth Walsh.

The museum's members enjoyed the ACHS Madrigal singers who performed for them on Thursday, Nov. 30 as the museum's Christmas display was unveiled.

Friends of the museum are urged to start saving old books for the annual book sale next summer.

GOP blesses spring primary candidates

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

There were no surprises at this week's endorsement session of the Lake County Republican Central Committee.

The 24-member body met at the Comfort Inn, Mundelein, to endorse office seekers in the March primary.

In two hours the committee endorsed incumbents or those already identified as Republican front runners on the state and county level. Agreement came fast and easy.

Not so when it came to endorsing candidates for the County Board. There are two openings in each of the six districts.

Only endorsement was made in Dist. 5 where Warren Twp. supervisor and one-time County Board member Robert Depke received the approval of his peers. So did his running mate, Vernon Hills Trustee Pam Newton.

"In other districts we will wait until the candidates actually file or the Republican precinct committeemen in each township vote," said Central Committee Chairman Robert Neal. "We will definitely consider the input of committeemen." He said the Central Committee will meet again within several weeks to make further endorsements.

Filing dates for county and state offices is Monday, Dec. 11, through Monday, Dec. 18. Merely because a candidate does not receive the Central Committee endorsement does not prevent him or her from filing as a Republican. However, endorsement is tantamount to election in April.

Endorsed are:
U.S. Senator: U.S. Rep. Lynn Martin of Rockford.

U.S. Rep. (10th Dist.) Incumbent John Porter, Wilmette.

U.S. Rep. (12th Dist.) Incumbent Philip Crane, Arlington Heights.

Governor: Sect. of State Jim Edgar.

Lt. Governor: Robert Kustra.

Sect. of State: Lt. Gov. George Ryan.

State Treasurer: Greg Baise, secretary of the Illinois Dept. of Transportation.

State Controller: Gary Skoin of Palatine, director of the state Capital Development Board.

2nd Dist. Appellate Court: Judge Jack Hoogasian of Waukegan for one vacancy and Judge Jim Franz of McHenry for second opening.

19th Judicial Circuit: Incumbent Steve Walter.

State Rep.—58th Dist.: County Board member Deloris Axelrod of Highland Park.

State Rep.—59th Dist.: Incumbent Virginia Frederick of Lake Forest.

State Rep.—60th Dist.: Incumbent William Peterson of Prairie View.

State Rep.—62nd Dist.: Incumbent Robert Churchill of Lake Villa.

State Rep.—63rd Dist.: Incumbent Richard Klemm of Crystal Lake.

State Sen.—29th Dist.: Incumbent Roger Keats of Kennilworth.

State Sen.—32nd Dist.: Incumbent Jack Schaffer of Crystal Lake.

Sheriff: Incumbent Clinton Grinnell.

Treasurer: Incumbent Jack "Red" Anderson.

Supt. of Schools: Incumbent Sybil Yastrow.

Dist. 4 reps split budget vote

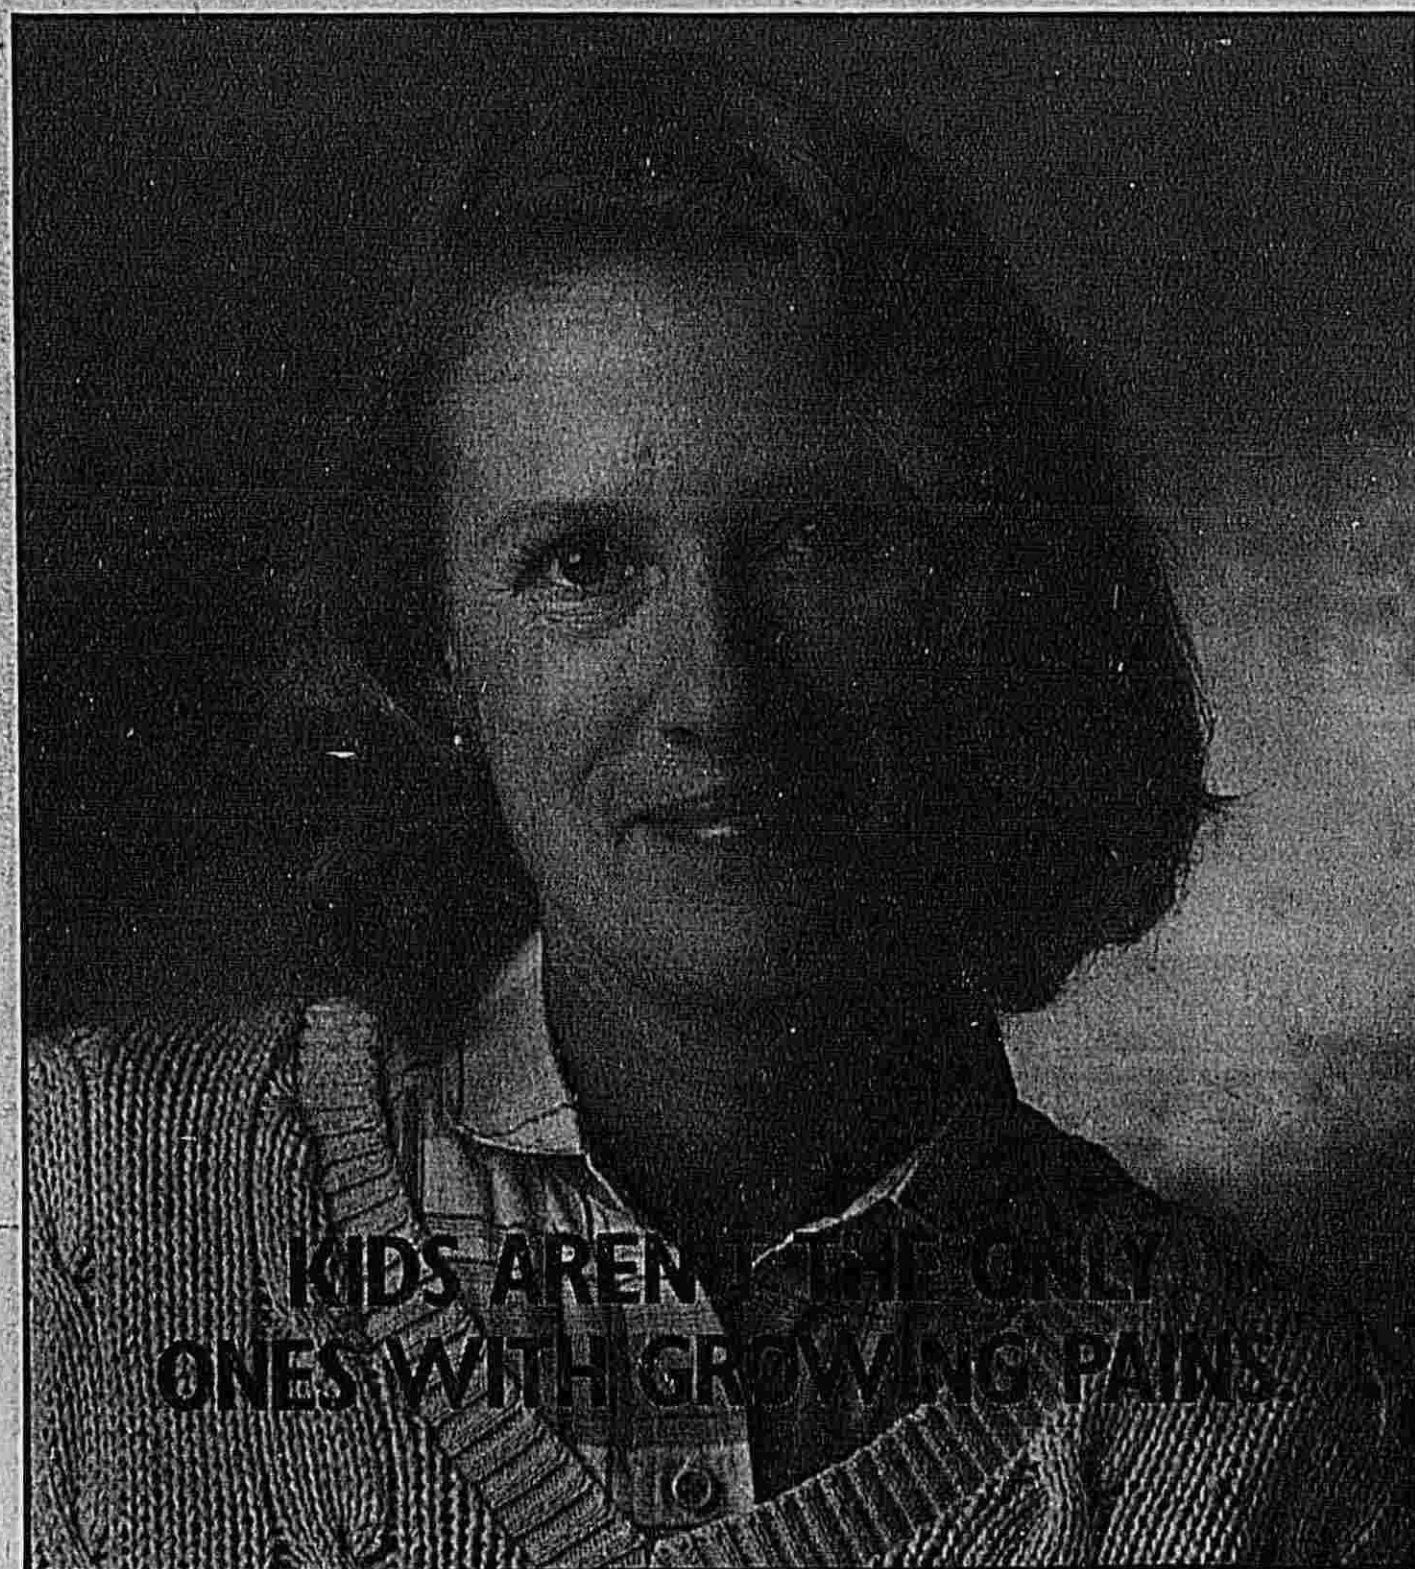

Dist. 4 representatives of the Lake County Board continue to take sides as Norman Geary (Avon) and Suzi Schmidt (Lake Villa) voted in favor of a $159.4 million 1990 budget for the county, while Charlotte Kiesgen (Grant) and Jim Fields (Antioch) were opposed.

Kiesgen and Fields, however, were on the losing end as the board approved the budget by a 14-6 vote.

The budget includes a 10.05 percent levy increase over last year with a tax levy of $41 million, as well as an 18 percent increase in spending. The budget also includes $97 million in income from fees, grants and other sources, and the use of $21 from cash reserves.

Highlights of the budget include $5.3 million to run the new $30 million county jail, including payments toward the estimated $3.3 million cost to expand it next year, and $6.1 million to expand the county's sewage treatment plant in Vernon Hills.

KIDS AREN'T THE ONLY ONES WITH GROWING PAINS.

Introducing Adult Mental Health Services.

Change isn't easy at any age. And sometimes dealing with the challenges of growing older can become overwhelming.

To help you get through those tough periods of adjustment, Victory Memorial Hospital has created an innovative new mental health unit for adults of all ages.

Our unit offers two distinctive programs; one for adults, and another—the first of its type in Lake County—for seniors. Both programs follow individualized treatment philosophies. They are based on a holistic approach to patient recovery, promoting self-help and the return to a healthy lifestyle. The home-like atmosphere, and warm, supportive environment, set the stage for programs designed to meet the physical, psychological and spiritual needs of each patient. And the unit's in-hospital setting allows patients access to any of our medical services.

Growing pains don't end with adolescence, but with our help they don't have to go on forever.

Madrigals to entertain Lake Region

The Antioch High School Madrigal Singers will provide the program for the November meeting of the Lakes Region Historical Society.

The Christmas music will be in keeping with the theme in which the old school museum has been decorated. The show cases are filled with "Gifts from the Past," and a series of trees provides a history of the development of the decorated tree tradition.

Because the usual meeting date fell on Thanksgiving, this month's meeting will be on Nov. 30. There will be no meeting in December.

The public is always welcomed to the meetings which are held in the society home at 817 Main St., Antioch.

Meetings are scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. and refreshments are served.

As an added treat this month, a door prize will be awarded.

Brief

Exchange Club

John Soffietti, chairman of the Chain of Lakes Waterway Assn., will address the Exchange Club of Antioch on Tuesday, Dec. 12. The public is invited to attend this information program, which will be held at 7:15 a.m. at Struggles Restaurant in Antioch. Breakfast is $5. The Exchange Club of Antioch is a non-profit service organization.

Santa has arrived

Santa Claus himself arrived in Antioch last Friday, leading the annual Christmas Parade. He has taken up residence in Santa's Castle on Toft Ave. where area tots, like those above, can visit him on weekdays and weekends up to Christmas. The castle and Santa are under the auspices of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce, while Mrs. Santa is being supplied by the Antioch Woman's Club. From left, taking refuge in Santa's lap are the Fales family, Hunter, three-and-one-half months, Holly, 7, and Liz, 5.

Askfeldt: I'm within law but Schmidt's not sure

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

Although several of Spencer Askfeldt's neighbors on Petite Lake are up in arms over his plans to renovate an old recreation resort, Chuck Kempf, owner of Kempf's Resort across the way, says, "I don't particularly like the looks of the big pole barn he's put up, but I think he's within his zoning rights and has the necessary permits for what he plans to do."

Askfeldt, who is being sued by neighbors Joe Titus and Paul Kito, with a hearing set in Lake County court on Friday, Dec. 1, claims that he has all the permits necessary for renovating the resort.

The suit claims that Askfeldt has built a pole barn over the sewer expansion field; has excavated and moved dirt that is in a flood plain and floodway (which covers the lake bottom) that runs from the front of the pole barn to the water's edge and underneath the pole barn.

Askfeldt, who says the bottom line is that his neighbors do not want to see the resort renovation period, claims that he hired a private surveyor, Tom Nedved, who surveyed the land five times and told him he has no floodplain on his property.

He also claims to have a permit from the Lake County Bldg. and Zoning Dept. for the fence he built that runs along his property line from the road to the lake.

He also says the Army Corps of Engineers has approved what he did to the lakefront and the two boat ramps he has installed there.

He adds that the Lake County Health Dept. told him he had to secure his wells, a process which he has been going through since May, and then on Oct. 24, that department notified him he had to have an expansion system.

Police charge Antioch youth, 17, with auto theft

Jason K. Hauser, 17, 1049 Stafford, Antioch, was arrested by Lindenhurst police Sunday after stealing a 1989 Pontiac Grand Am from Don Pittman Pontiac Subaru Motors, Inc. in Antioch, according to Acting Lindenhurst Police Chief Art Preder.

Lindenhurst Ofc. Phillip Smetters apprehended Hauser in a parking lot on Rte. 83 in Lake Villa after a chase that began at the corner of Grass Lake and Beck Rds. when Smetters clocked Hauser's speed at 60 m.p.h. in a 40 m.p.h. zone.

Smetters, who admitted to stealing the Pontiac, was charged by Lindenhurst police with possession of a stolen automobile, speeding, running a stop sign, and fleeing from a police officer.

Antioch police later charged Smetters with theft of a motor vehicle and criminal trespassing.

Grass Lake School pushes drug awareness

by LIZ SCHMEHL
(708)395-5380

During the 1988-89 school year, Grass Lake School implemented a new type of drug awareness program. "The Growing Up Well" program, under the direction of staff member, Sharon Jones, was so successful in the grades K-3, the school made a decision to extend the program to the fourth through eighth grades for the 1989-90 school year.

The program utilizes volunteers who attend a full-day in-school training program in order to be educated in the various aspects and goals of the program.

In the K-3 grades, the volunteer instructors assume the role of a clown and spend one-half hour per week with their assigned classes for a period of six weeks. A team of two clowns appear in that same classroom each week to establish a friendly and familiar relationship with the students.

In grades four through eight, volunteers appear, as themselves, and conduct a 45-minute session once a week for five weeks.

Once again, the program is off to a good start in the first and third grades. The clowns appearing in the third-grade classroom are Fred and Ethel. I know Fred and Ethel personally, and they tell me they already love the third graders and enjoy serving the school in this capacity. They find the program personally rewarding and feel the students are 100 percent receptive to it.

The two clowns in the first grade are Checkers and Rainbow. They, too, are enjoying their part in the "Growing Up Well" program.

With the early and continued introduction to this program, it stands to reason students graduating from GLS will have a sound foundation in recognizing and making healthy and wise choices when it comes to peer pressure, drugs and alcohol. It is heart-warming to see GLS take such a positive stand against drug and alcohol abuse. Keep up the good work, and thanks people for volunteering your time so readily.

Attends conference

This weekend, I attended an IASB Joint Conference held in downtown Chicago. I feel the positive direction the Grass Lake School Board received will be invaluable to us in dealing with each other, in dealing with the staff and students, and in dealing with the community. The knowledge gained from the conference will definitely give us direction in performing our duties as a board.

My days were spent in various informative workshops and panel discussions pertinent to my role as a board member. My evenings were filled with the opportunity to get to know and communicate with my fellow board members on a personal level. It was truly a learning experience, in more ways than one.

city has to offer. However, given a choice, I know at last I prefer to be a "country bumpkin" forever!

Newlyweds back

My daughter, Barbara, and

Hometown Goodies

Not only did I enjoy all the information that infiltrated my mind throughout the day, I also enjoyed walking around downtown in the evening with the lights from all the beautiful buildings and tall skyscrapers playing their special magic on my mind and soul. I don't think there is anything more beautiful than a big city at nighttime.

I used to experience this on a daily basis in the years of my (all too long ago) youth as a secretary in a downtown office building. However, I have truly become a "country bumpkin" and have grown accustomed to the wide open spaces and sounds of chirping birds early in the day, and animals making their various sounds throughout the night.

I was reminded that both worlds have a specialness about them. Both worlds are unique in their own way. It was definitely fun leaving my Antioch/Eagle River existence for a short weekend, to experience what the son-in-law Dan Filips returned from their Jamaican honeymoon on Thursday, Nov. 16. On Sunday, Nov. 19, they came to our family birthday celebration showing off two fantastic sun-tans. They also brought over the wedding picture proofs, and it was great reliving that special day as we looked over each and every picture.

Barb looked as radiant in the pictures as she did that day. On the other hand, if I looked as bad that day as I did in the pictures I should seriously consider wearing a bag over my head at all times.

I got up early the morning of the Nov. 4 event to wash my beauty parlor gray-free hair and curl it, special. I naturally took a long, relaxing bath, after which I manned my girdle, pantyhose and dress, bought special for the occasion. I even wore heels. I took extra care in applying my makeup.

After I accomplished all of this, I glanced into the mirror to view the fruits of my labor. I secretly thought, "Not bad, for an old hefty broad!" Why is it the pictures didn't agree with my version of how "good" I looked that day? Here I was, pictured next to my five-foot, 90-pound daughter, looking like a massive football player with jowls. Yes, the Lizard definitely needs to shed a pound or two or, possibly, 50.

'Dream Team' 4-H

'Parent Awareness'

Antioch Comm. High School has begun a series of "Parent Awareness" sessions to be held in the school commons throughout the year. The topic of the first sessions was "Signs/Symptoms of Cults" and "Let's Take a Look at Rock Music." This opening sessions was held on Tuesday, Nov. 28.

The high school has invited all of the parents from their feeder schools who have children in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades to participate in "Parents' Awareness Nights." From now until the end of the school year, five programs are planned.

Each program will be led by a professional in that particular field. The purpose of this program is to make parents aware of some of the problems and issues that our children may be faced with.

Future topics may consist of substance abuse, adolescent suicide; adolescent issues/peer pressure; parent networking; step family/divorce; teenage sex/AIDS/date rape. Parents attending the meetings will have the opportunity to suggest future topics. The announcement of dates and topics will be sent home with the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grade students, and will also appear in the Antioch Reporter. Most Sessions will last about one-and-one-half hours, and will be held in the school commons area.

Fairchild takes annual holiday stroll in town

EDITOR'S NOTE

Long time Antiochian, Russ Fairchild, has been taking a holiday stroll through the village, commenting on the local people he meets on the way, for many years. Here is the first of a holiday series of Fairchild's wanderings through Antioch.

by RUSS FAIRCHILD "Holiday Greetings"

Well, with Thanksgiving past, we can now plan our Christmas festivities. So, with these pleasant thoughts in mind, dress warmly and come along in seasonal spirit and be my early morning guests.

The village lamp posts are all aglow from the Christmas trees gaily adorning them, as I enter St. Peter's Church to attend mass. Father Duffy is officiating. "Amazing Grace, How Sweet the Sound."

Glancing around, I notice a nice attendance, including Edna and Bill Barr, Floyd Davis, Ed Gramala, George and Joann Vistain, artist Thomas Hannigan, Irene Lingo, Bruno and Bernice Parker, Maria Skeberys, musical director Ector Bernie Dost, and Jan Zak, lector. Pearl Roach has arrived.

It has come to pass that whenever a mass is said for Blaine Ring, an entire section of pews are occupied with loving family members in fond memory of our late road commissioner. Blaine, in looking down, must be mighty proud of his son Mark, who chose to follow in his father's footsteps. And, for the wonderful mother of his children, Geraldine, who with rubber bands, glue, thumbtacks and love, has sure molded them all together. So, it can be said "We are family..."

Father Hanley and the parish were well pleased over the huge success of "Footlights '89," and for me to foolishly attempt to credit all those wonderful folks who cooperated, not only in their giving but in giving of themselves. You'd have to read the ad program book.

However, please let me just gloss over a few deserving names. To wit: The Advertiser, St. Peter Council of Catholic Women, Madalyn Winkler (chairperson) and family, Ruth Burke, Jean Zak, Claudette Skvarce and Betty Letkey (rectory). They all went that extra mile!

Strolling east on Lake St., I wave over to Village Cleaners at Gert and V-I-P Lee Ipsen. "Sleigh Bells Ring."

Now it's all well and good to visit the coffee shops, supermarkets, taverns and family centers. They all play an integral part in our lives. Case in point: When we need money, we go to a bank.

When I am in need of medical attention, my legs take me to the Orchard Medical Center, where for more years than I care to count this fine facility has always steered me in the right direction to keep fit.

I can't thank them enough for the many times they've put me back together again so I could keep right on strolling.

Back at the Loyal Order of Moose Lodge 525, Ralph Gussarson, governor, and Margie Turner, senior regent, a monthly digest well written by Ralph, himself. WOJM Chapter news—ably penned by Margie herself, and does far more to enlighten you readers than I ever could, because they live it and therefore tell it like it is.

Don't forget bingo at noon every Wednesday. And, get your Moose Christmas seals. Thank you. "O Tannenbaum."

The Piggly Wiggly with Jean Weber, store manager, is a friendly place to shop in, with folks like employee Randy Dussault, literally "bending over backwards" to help a customer. Likewise for new manager, Jean Weber, who transferred from Kenosha Store No. 8, with Dan Atkins to Store No. 10. The move was beneficial to them both. "Best Wishes to Jean."

In an orderly front office, Pat Antonelli, along with

Brenda and Carol, "Run a Tight Ship."

I spotted two friends, Ivy and Richard Ohlgren, heading for aisle four. Just checking out with Evie, is banker Ed Archambault. Deacon Robert Gagnon is over in greeting cards. In the produce section, there's my neighbor and dear friend Joan Stahl, as Elsie Quedenfeld starts chatting with Hazel VanPatten.

In the rear of the store, near the deli, is attractive hostess Yera Leipzig, serving tasty snacks to the Hanks, Flo and Otto.

The deli department finds Marilyn Warden, waiting on svelte Jan Wilke of Spafford St., as pleasant Patty converses with Mary Pollen. Over in the dairy department, Avis and Tony Huber are shopping. Marge Sietz just came in. Jo Ottolino and Helen Ciszewski, are dreaming of a "White Christmas...Ho Ho Ho..."

Now outside and strolling east, I wave to Lt. Gary Quedenfeld of the Antioch Fire Dept. A carbon copy of Jimm Quedenfeld. A car cruises slowly by with a special license plate. Ex-cop, that's Harold Mason, once one of Antioch's finest.

I move quickly past the area barber shop, where owner Don Kerkman thinks I always need a haircut.

Crossing Toft Blvd., village foreman, Joe Huber and his crew drive on by. I double back and head for the golden arches. Larry Dullinger, mailman passes, and AARP member George Gialds is getting his mail. In the post office, I get my Christmas stamps from Jean Irving. "Let it Snow!" Santa's castle is bright and gleaming, all ready for the children.

McDonald's

Entering presents a festive atmosphere with Christmas carols and decorations. "Noel Noel." Helen Smith and Mary Boyd, veteran employees are busy at the hot corner, the automobile take-out window. George Boyd, still and avid collector of old Spike Jones records, is getting McMuffins from popular Judy Mazucca.

Ray and Phyllis Maaske, and a few grandchildren, are moving over into the no smoking section, near John Zak and Ed Wallock, who are chatting with popular Helen Ottolino, who sometimes calls for bingo games on Tuesday morning.

May Juandula and Hilda Thibodeau are also, dreaming of a White Christmas. Estelle Gatch joins them. Lucy and Herb Frank are driving up outside. Lucy is recovering from major surgery.

Ken Mortensen, retired building contractor, talks shop with cowboy George Gahan, over pancakes. JP has just come to work. Tony Hornof, over in a corner is reading the Antioch News Reporter.

Manager Suzette is overseeing smooth operations.

In the center section, John Beran and Sophie are dining near Irene Maxwell and Wally. Jim Sherman and Robert Ruggles, electrical contractor are going to the counter for coffee refills. Ed and Marie Nemec, two steady bingo players, take a table.

Stacey is waiting on Moose member Jolly Jo Wohlfeil, and studious Ann Petrisko. Wilber Gers, retired postal employee, is here.

In the front east section, Bess May and Mary Hancock reminisce with Elmer Renner and Joe Matussek.

Walter Magnowski is reading the Bi-State Reporter, while Lyle Curtiss, Vernon Hall, and Walt Johnson watch the passing parade. Susan the housekeeper is quite busy.

Jeanie, behind the counter is taking orders from the Sebesta family, Rose, John and Frank and four prominent members from the North Ave. action barn and VFW Post 4551 have dropped in: Jim Egem, Steve Straukus, and Wally and Jean Rybicki. Ed and Sue Haley are leaving.

George Kish, musician, just came in with an old friend, his accordion. This should set a precedent! "Santa Claus is coming to town...."

ACHS joins MADD

Golden Anniversary

With the marquee stating the occasion, the families of Art Hanke and Wayne Hanke held a Golden Anniversary party for their parents, Otto and Florence Hanke at the Landmark in Antioch on Nov. 11.

Guests from Florida, California, Arizona, Michigan and Wisconsin came to help them celebrate with dinner, memory lane slides and music for an evening of joy and many memories to treasure in years to come.

The guests of honor arrived in a 1930

Model A car, compliments of the Jim Mapletharpe's, which was just the beginning of a fun filled evening for everyone. All the grandchildren were there except one who is stationed in Florida at an Air Force base. The invocation was given by Frank Verkest, brother of Florence. At the 11 a.m. Mass on Sunday, Nov. 12 at St. Peter's Church in Antioch, the couple had a renewal of their wedding vows with Father Hanley officiating the ceremony and Frank and Freya Moser as the attendants.

Scout Troop 92 dinner attended by 600 people

Antioch's Boys Scouts of America Troop 92 declared their 29th annual "all-you-can-eat" spaghetti dinner a delicious success. Over 600 adults and children were served thanks to the hard work of the Scouts and their families. They were assisted by their sponsor Loyal Order of the Moose Lodge 525 and area merchants who provided raffle prizes.

Among the many prizes and their winners were a mini-car won by Bob Fox of Antioch, VCR by Tina Jenkins of Antioch, car sun roof by Barbara Marquardt of Park City, $100 savings bond by James Foren of Antioch, and a silver eagle coin set by Marie Gablin.

Troop 92 has awarded certificates of appreciation to many individuals and organization who contributed to the success of this annual event.

Finally, Troop 92 expresses its thanks to the Antioch area for patronizing the spaghetti dinner.

Residents are also invited to bring their newspapers and aluminum cans to the Scout paper trailer located near the Antioch sawmill. Proceeds from the dinner and the paper drive are used to provide camping opportunities.

Troop 92 meets on Tuesday evenings, from 7 to 9 p.m., at the Antioch Scout House on north Main St. Anyone seeking information about Troop 92 is invited to call Scoutmaster Dick Weston at (708)356-9269.

Askfeldt

Suzie Schmidt, Lake County Board member, who is on the county's zoning committee, says that that group is looking into Killo's and Titus' allegations.

"I don't believe he has gotten all the permits he needs from the Army Corp. We have asked Bob Streicher, head of building and zoning, to look into the permits Askfeldt has received," she said.

Schmidt adds that she has seen pictures of the sewer damage done by the excavation,

"There are pictures of broken tile and a lot of other damage he has done," she added.

Schmidt added that she had heard Askfeldt is considering suing the health department.

Askfeldt's answer to that allegation was, "I haven't spoken to my lawyer about that yet."

"I don't think that the county zoning department is taking into consideration the other residents that live there in what is primarily a residential section," said Schmidt.

Steal tools

Tools valued at $1,410 and other items were stolen from garages in Beach Park in Antioch Twp. According to the Lake County Sheriff's report, a 12-volt battery charger valued at $660 and tools were taken from an unlocked garage. Another battery charger, tools and a radar detector, valued at $750, were stolen from a different garage, also in the township.

Fans to remember Lennartz

Larry Lennartz will be remembered by Waukegan East basketball fans before the Saturday night game against Glenbrook North begins.

Lennartz was found shot to death Monday morning in his Waukegan apartment at 23 W. Jackson. Lennartz was 41. Entrance was gained through a window and Lennartz was pronounced dead at the scene.

Lt. Tim Niemietz of the Waukegan Police Dept. said police were informed when Lennartz did not report to school Monday morning.

East High Athletic Dir. Tim Albers said that school officials were firming up plans but most likely a moment of silence will be observed.

"We are very sorry. He did an excellent job as a teacher and a coach," Waukegan Supt. Dr. Jack Taylor said. "He was a genuinely nice person," Robert Allen, head of the science department at East, said.

Allen explained Lennartz, a health teacher, taught in the science department when health was part of the science curriculum.

The Bulldogs were 6-15 last year but advanced to the sectional final two years ago. In 1981-82 the team made the Sweet Sixteen with a 22-5 record.

"He was very soft-spoken. He was very much of a basketball junkie," Warren High Coach Darrel Bader said.

"I thought he did a super job with teams with lesser talent," Albers said.

Veteran sophomore team coach Bob Franz will take over the varsity when East plays at New Trier Dec. 1.

Good luck, Fred

At 6'6", Fred Foreman stands out in a crowd. But it isn't his commanding physical stature that attracts the attention of political leaders who have been following the progress of the boyish state's attorney for 10 years. Besides being popular with voters and winning three straight terms as state's attorney, Foreman possesses an engaging personality which inspires confidence. The former star athlete at Warren Township High School has an almost disarming openness that draws respect.

Foreman has never hidden his goals to move up the ladder in public life, but this ambition, outlined in a framework of service and commitment, only serves to enhance the image of the 41-year-old politician. Now he is ready to embark on a new career with a nomination for U.S. Federal Attorney for Northern Illinois. The office is a high profile position that is a stepping stone. His predecessors have moved on to higher posts or gone into lucrative private law practices. We suspect Fred will remain in the public sector. Foreman's family and those who gave him his start deservedly can take pride in his accomplishments, as do all his friends and supporters. We wish him well.

Rethink water needs

Members of the Central Lake County Joint Action Water Agency are closing out the year with the warm feeling that an inexhaustible, safe supply of water from Lake Michigan is just around the corner. Not so with Lake Zurich, where voters rejected an advisory referendum on joining the consortium of villages that is looking to lake water for the future.

Mayor James W. Kay might have been right with the assessment that Lake Zurich voters chose education over water. Public schools asked for and got voter approval for a $3.7 million to pay for much needed classrooms while voters turned down the Lake Michigan water proposition estimated to run between $22 and $27 million. The alternative is reliance on wells that their neighbors have elected to phase out in due time.

Now a whole new light has been turned on the question of lake water with a revised cost estimate that a system of wells providing for needs to the year 2010 will run about $25 million. At the same time, the specter of radium contamination has been raised. Adding to water woes is the fact the rapidly growing village already is ringed with inoperative or unusable wells.

Even though the lake water measure was defeated 1,682 to 916, all of the sudden it appears advisable to rethink membership in JAWA. The bright side of the dilemma is that Lake Michigan isn't going away. Neither is the Central Lake County Water combine. Help is close by.

Letters To The Editor

Choking congestion

Unless improvements are made at the congested and dangerous intersection of Rte. 22 and Old McHenry Rd., Lake Zurich motorists could be in danger in the future. Lake Zurich and surrounding areas are trying to accommodate traffic for the growing number of vehicles being thrust upon our roadways over the past 15 years.

The intersection of Rte. 22 and Old McHenry Rd. are both two lane roads. There is a flashing red light and four-way stop signs. With Kemper Insurance Co. and many other businesses nearby, roadways need to be improved to accommodate this traffic situation. The intersection needs turn lanes, roads need to be widened, and a traffic light needs to be installed. During rush hour, traffic is backed up for miles. You waste anywhere from 30 minutes to an hour just sitting in traffic. Not only is traffic at this intersection aggravating, but it is costly and dangerous.

The expressway was extended to Lake Cook Rd. which is only five miles from this intersection. The traffic conditions are only going to get worse in the future if something is not done soon. A traffic study was done, and they predict more than 700,000 new daily trips will be generated from office and commercial developments in the area in the next 10 years.

Does there have to be a major crisis before solutions are made? If you are wondering what we could do to help this situation, we could either write to or call the Illinois Dept. of Transportation or Lake County Transportation Dept.

Flag burning dead wrong

Editor:

The flag stands for the unity of one nation, the individual rights of each citizen, and most of all it stands for our freedom. Now the American flag represents a land where people have the right to burn the American flag.

Don Braken, the adjutant quartermaster of the Veterans of Foreign Wars chapter in Seattle, says: "The flag is a symbol of the United States. When you destroy the flag, you destroy the principles of our country." Also, veterans around the country are outraged that they had fought in a battle to protect the flag so that, in turn, people could have the right to burn it.

The First Amendment prohibits the desecration of the flag. Doesn't that mean anything to these people who think flag burning is just?

Cases have been cited where the government might restrict free expression in order to protect other interests: The writing of graffiti on the Washington Monument, the painting or projecting of movie messages on the Lincoln Memorial, or even the extinguishing of the eternal flame on Kennedy's grave. So why not the American flag? These men and statues all stand before one thing—the American flag. Not consecrating the flag means that we may as well allow the above to take place.

I believe that President Bush sums up our country's feelings in just a few words: "Flag burning is wrong, dead wrong."

Editor:

What happened to the recycling project in Antioch? Leaves are a start, but what about everything else? For the future of Antioch we should stop being wasteful and start our recycling project now. It would be highly successful in our town because of the high community involvement that our residents have.

So let's decide what we are going to do: curbside containers, drop-offs, or what? I was rather disappointed to hear that many

Cross travails sparks display of Yule spirit

by BILL SCHROEDER

Robert Sherman probably didn't plan it that way, but the Buffalo Grove gadfly atheist is responsible for an unprecedented outpouring of Christmas spirit in Wauconda.

Lighted crosses are sprouting everywhere in Wauconda—on private property—and villagers are enjoying the glow of neighborly feeling that comes only from the shared experience of adversity. A record throng of more than 500 persons turned out for the annual Christmas tree-lighting service.

Sherman was dead set determined to put an end to Wauconda custom of displaying a lighted cross atop village water towers at Christmas to correct what he considered a violation of the constitutionally guaranteed principle of separation of church and state. Reluctantly, village trustees capitulated to Sherman and threats of an expensive lawsuit with help from the American Civil Liberties Union, substituting generic stars for the crosses.

So both stars and crosses are shining during the Yule season. In Dickensian fashion, there is wonderment whether Sherman will see the Christmas ghost and recant.

MEMORIES—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wegge are recounting their experiences at the commissioning ceremony of our nation's newest supercarrier, the U.S.S. Abraham Lincoln. Wegge, owner of a Grayslake accounting firm, was with a group of Illinois Korean War veterans headed by former State Sen. Robert Mischler. "The Lincoln is just an awesome ship, but the really mind-boggling memory of our trip is that we were told that three more carriers like the Lincoln were on the drawing boards," Wegge related.

MORE MEMORIES—Tony Christopolous, now the host of northwest Lake County's elegant supper club, the Landmark at Antioch, is keeping alive some of the traditions of the Burgundy

Wants tinted windows

Editor:

Tinted windows should be legal in the State of Illinois not only because it will prevent sun glare, but also prevent less accidents. Many people are objected to the state law passed from last year stating "no window application, reflective material or tinted film" is allowed on windows or adjacent windows in vehicles made after 1982. A person who has tinting on windshields and adjacent side windows on a vehicle made after 1982 will be fined a $50 ticket.

The exceptions from this law are vehicles manufactured before 1982, rear windows and rear-side windows, vehicles with stickers for the handicapped or state and local authorities vehicles with motorists who have albinism or lupus and vehicles with tinting installed by the vehicle manufacturer.

What is the difference with a vehicle that is made before 1982 with tinted windows between a vehicle that is made after 1982 with tinted windows? Just because a vehicle is a newer model, does not mean he or she should pay a $50

Room of Waukegan, which Tony and his brother, Bob, established 30 years ago as the place to be for Lake County politicians and the movers and shakers.

At the B Room, regulars always were remembered with a gargantuan-sized cocktail, a flaming drink for men and a gardenia-adorned beverage for the ladies. Memories came flooding back for Ed Nash, former county news great and now the information chief for the Ill. Dept. of Transportation (IDOT), Chicago office, when he celebrated another milestone with friends last Saturday night at Landmark. Tony and Ed compared notes on the days when a reporter could gather more news at the Burgundy Room in several hours than in pounding a beat all day in the county building.

CELEBRATING—Lillian Franzen, surrounded by friends and family members, including a five-week-old great-grandson, was her usual sprightly self in celebrating her 95th birthday with a Sunday evening buffet supper at her daughter's Round Lake Park home. A former Libertyville resident, Lillian rebounded from a serious illness that had her bedridden most of the summer. "Time flies, so keep a November date open in 2004, when we'll have another birthday party," she advised the well wishers.

REUNION—Harvard Law School reunions are a "don't miss" occasion for Atty. Joseph Sikes and his wife, Estelle. Their latest trip east was highlighted by the Class of '34 get-together. Sikes reflected that he was one of the few members of his class to establish a private law practice, the others selecting careers with large law firms or governmental service. Sikes posted his shingle in Grayslake and conducted a general practice, emphasizing probate matters and municipal government. He is a former village attorney of Lake Zurich. Sikes also established Lake County Savings and Loan Assn., a forerunner of Home Federal Bank for Savings.

ticket. What happens to a person who buys an used vehicle with tinted windows? Why should that person pay the ticket? Either there is a law stating no tint on windows without exceptions or everybody should be able to tint their windows.

Every year an area of tropical rain forest the size of Pennsylvania is destroyed. Half the world's rain forest is already destroyed and can never be replaced. Another problem is that all the trees and plants that are being destroyed are slowly limiting the advancements in the medical world. The National Cancer Society has said that 70 percent of the most promising anti-cancer plants come from the tropical rain forest. Yet scientists have only studied a minute fraction of the plants in the forest. So many plants are being destroyed and we do not know what benefits they possess.

Foreman is choice for federal prosecutor job

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

For Lake County State's Atty. Fred Foreman, this week has seen the realization of another milestone in his political career.

He has been nominated to become the next U.S. Atty. General for the Northern Dist. of Illinois, which includes 18 counties. Following background checks and further interviews, he expects to be confirmed next spring by the Senate before formal appointment by President George Bush.

He will succeed the retiring Anton Valukas, who is returning to private practice.

Foreman, 41, of Gurnee, received the nomination of the state's Republican congressional delegation over three other prominent attorneys with strong political support. They are James Montana of Chicago, a federal prosecutor when Gov. Jim Thompson held the same job; Jeremy Margolis, Illinois State Police director, who also served under Thompson when he was in the attorney's office; and William Kunkle, a prominent attorney and former top assistant Cook County state's attorney.

Ability as much politics won Foreman the job that could be a ticket to bigger things to come. In addition to Thompson, this office was held by Samuel Skinner of Lake Forest, secretary of the U.S. Dept. of Transportation; and Dan Webb, now a prominent Chicago attorney.

Foreman, who has served as Lake County State's Atty. for 10 years, a post he set out to win when he came to the office in 1976. He was president of the National Dist. Attorney's Assn where he lobbied unsuccessfully for the confirmation of Robert Bork as Supreme Court justice by President Ronald Reagan. He also has been active in the Illinois state's attorney's association.

Not known as a strong prosecutor, Foreman is identified as a solid administrator with an office of 90 persons, 44 of them assistant state's attorneys.

Winning points for Foreman is his political ability. He has high visibility among the electorate in Lake County, works hard on the campaign trail and has many Republican friends in high places throughout Illinois.

One of them is Robert Neal, chairman of the Lake County Republican Party. "Our group had a lot of input into this nice win," Neal said. "We had a good candidate in Foreman and called in a lot of favors. Nineteen county GOP chairman backed our choice."

Foreman was interviewed in Washington last week along with the other nominees. On Monday he was informed by U.S. Rep. Robert Michel, the House minority leader and ranking Republican in the state's congressional delegation, the job was his. Solid backing was contributed by the two Republican congressmen representing Lake County: John Porter (R-Wilmette) of the 10th Dist. and Philip Crane (R-Arlington Heights) of the 12th Dist.

"This is the realization of a long-term goal," Foreman said. "While excited about the new challenge, I feel a little remorseful about leaving an office with which I have been identified for 10 years."

As for the future, Foreman said he has no political plans although he does admit to being politically ambitious. "In our house we do things as a family," he said. "Everything I have done in my career has been after conferring with my wife and three children," he said of his wife, Stephanie; and children, Melissa, 10, Christopher, 8, and Melanie, 5. "My children have never known anything but public life for their father," Foreman added.

Foreman plans to fill the responsibilities of his new office before making further plans. Party regulars say this is one of the few high-profile appointments open to groom political candidates.

Foreman came to the Lake County State's Attorneys office in 1976 at the request of former office holder Jack Hoogasian. When Hoogasian became a Circuit Court Judge, Foreman ran and was elected in 1980 and every four years since then. Hoogasian is now running for a vacancy on the 2nd Dist. Appellate Court.

At 6-foot-5-inches, Foreman is a dominating individual. Regarded as handsome and personable, he has a winning way, whether with friends or in new surroundings.

A graduate of Warren Twp. High School where he was a member of a championship Suburban Conference basketball team, he earned a degree from Carroll College in Waukesha, Wis., and John Marshall Law School in Chicago. He also attended the U. S. Air Force Academy.

One of the cases Fred Foreman will inherit as the new federal prosecutor for northern Illinois is vote-buying charges against former Libertyville Twp. supervisor and Dist. 5 County Board member F.T. "Mike" Graham. Neither of the two are regarded as political allies. "I've been instructed not to comment about any pending cases," Foreman said. Graham's case has been under investigation since last June. No indictments have been filed.

When Fred Foreman becomes the new northern Illinois federal prosecutor next spring a successor will be appointed. Foreman's personal choice is his chief deputy, Michael Waller. The County Board will make the appointment until the next regular election, most likely November 1990. Candidates will then run for the remainder of Foreman's four-year term that began in 1988. "This is much the same way it happened when (Sheriff) Mickey Babcox died (in 1988) and Clinton Grinnell succeeded him," Foreman said of the present-day sheriff.

Fox Lake man attempts suicide

Makes business gifts

Sheri Ring, owner of Occasions, Inc., puts the finishing touches on an order ready for shipment. Ring followed in the footsteps of her dad by opening her own business gifts company on daughter of Quill Corp. owner, Jack Miller. After working for Hawley St. in Grayslake.—Photo by Kim Bolton.

Daughter follows Dad's footsteps

Like father, like daughter.

The father, Jack Miller, has spent most of his adult life making his mail order company, Quill Corp., into the largest independent distributor of office products in the United States.

The daughter, Sheri Ring, has founded Occasions, Inc., a mail order gift house devoted mainly to business gifts, located at 142 Hawley St., Grayslake. "It's exciting, it's fun, it's a lot of work, and I love every minute of it," Ring said.

Ring had worked for eight years in her dad's company before deciding four years ago she wanted to run her own business. Initially, though, she didn't know what kind of business she was interested in.

The idea Ring finally took walked through the door one day. One of the sales reps who called on her at dad's company told her about a company that sold gift baskets and had approached him to help them get started. That conversation gave her the thought that gift baskets might be a business she would be interested in getting into.

"After I made up my mind that I wanted to go into this business, and after Dad got over the disappointment of my leaving his business, he and I brainstormed about everything a company that made gift baskets could do," she said.

The brainstorming and more than a year's worth of research and soul searching led to the birth of Occasions in June, 1987. Ring said she named the company Occasions because she didn't want to limit her products to just gift baskets. Gift baskets for employees' special occasions such as births, birthdays, anniversary of employment, etc., were just part of the plan. Gift baskets and other items would be sold based on her customers' needs for employee programs, sales meetings and other events. So far, that has included long-stemmed chocolate roses, motivational quote books, teddy bears, mugs, imprinted golf balls and more.

Customers aren't limited to what's in Occasions' monthly catalogs. Sheri is pleased to fill special requests. Like the time one of her customers had a Mardi Gras party and wanted prizes and gifts for each of the 500 guests. "We had a lot of fun with it. We must have come up with 20 different ideas," she said.

"It's exciting, it's fun, it's a lot of work, and I love every minute of it."—Sheri Ring.

For the prizes, she and the customer finally decided on ceramic wall masks and gift baskets filled with food from the South, including mixes of Cajun cornbread, blackeyed peas, and Creole spiced rice. The gifts for all the guests were hurricane glasses filled with confetti, streamers, balloons and individually wrapped candies.

Special orders have also included the time a customer said he was having 50 people to a party and needed a $10 gift for each guest. Right now, she's working on a special order for the daughter of a business client who is getting married and who will have 100 out-of-town guests in for the wedding. They want a Chicago-theme type gift waiting for them in their hotel rooms.

Expanding its product line, Occasions has developed its own assortment of mugs which can be personalized with the company name and logo; perfect for business gift giving. One mug designed for a sales meeting reads, "There's nothing wrong with me that a good order couldn't cure."

Normally, Occasions fills 20 orders a day, although that can reach as high as 100 a day during the Christmas season. Sheri says that sales for her second year were 150 percent higher than the first year.

Occasions has customers from companies of all sizes. The largest include Exxon, Boise Cascade, Rustoleum—and, of course, her dad's company, Quill. Sheri wants to concentrate on business gift giving because so many business people need gifts for co-workers, clients and employees but they don't have time to shop. She added that many of her business customers have also purchased personal gifts from her, as well. Her message—"Dedicated to the art of creative gift giving"—expresses the direction of her company.

Ring, who is president of Occasions, is responsible for putting together the monthly catalog and making sales calls. Her husband, Tom, who started with the company in November, 1985, right after they were married, does the accounting and inventory work, jumps in on basket production, and oversees the daily operation. They also have two other employees.

Although Ring left Quill two years ago, she and her dad talk almost daily. He helps her by being her consultant, her sounding board, her sympathetic ear when things are tough, and her constant, enthusiastic supporter. When he sends her clippings, product ideas or notes, he signs each one, "#1 Dad, CTPP (Consultant to the President)," a title Ring gave him.

If alcohol or drug abuse has taken your teen out of touch, we're within reach.

A free, confidential consultation is just a phone call away.

Often, it begins innocently. Experimenting with drugs. Beer parties after football games. It's no one's fault—but, somehow things have gotten out of hand and your teenager is out of touch.

The fact is, substance abuse is often only a symptom of a deeper emotional problem. Professionals at the Saint Therese Adolescent Treatment Center know this—and have developed the only program in the area where your son or daughter can receive help in overcoming a drug or alcohol problem while also receiving psychiatric treatment for the underlying emotional dilemma.

The program has been developed specifically for adolescents and their special problems—and is not an adult program that has simply been adapted for teens. This comprehensive program not only helps your son or daughter, but also provides the support your entire family may need to become united once again.

Deciding to get professional help is never easy. But, if you suspect your teen has a problem, call us today to set up a free, private consultation—or to simply ask questions. It may be the most important phone call you'll ever make.

HeatherRidge falls three votes shy of woods buy

HeatherRidge residents will not be purchasing a 13-acre wooded area near its entrance.

The HeatherRidge Umbrella Assn. voted in favor of purchasing the land 19-13 Tuesday, but a two-thirds vote, 22 yes votes, was needed.

"I knew it was going to be close," Ruth Cain said of the vote.

The 13 acres were originally part of the Cambridge subdivision but developer Harold Brown last year withdrew the portion after meeting with HeatherRidge residents.

Cain said a negative campaign was waged in the final week leading up to the vote by residents of a single-family home area of HeatherRidge.

"This leaves the property in R-5 zoning with no protection," Cain said. Cain described HeatherRidge development as "the first big thing up this way. We have a big community and pay a lot of taxes to the taxing bodies and we are not getting a lot of help from them," Cain said.

Gurnee Village Admin. James Hayner said the village has taken no position on the matter.

Last week the Gurnee Park Dist. Board of Commissioners met and heard a request from Cain to purchase the land but did not take any action.

County Mental Health Dept. violates zoning - lawsuit

A lawsuit filed by Park City against the Lake County Mental Health Dept. could affect the status of an occupancy permit for an apartment complex.

City Atty. Rudy Magna Jr. filed the suit Monday seeking an injunction against the Mental Health Dept. and Park Terrace Apts. The city believes the Mental Health Dept. is violating a city zoning law because eight patients are housed in the apartment complex.

Magna said eight mental health patients are being housed at Park Terrace.

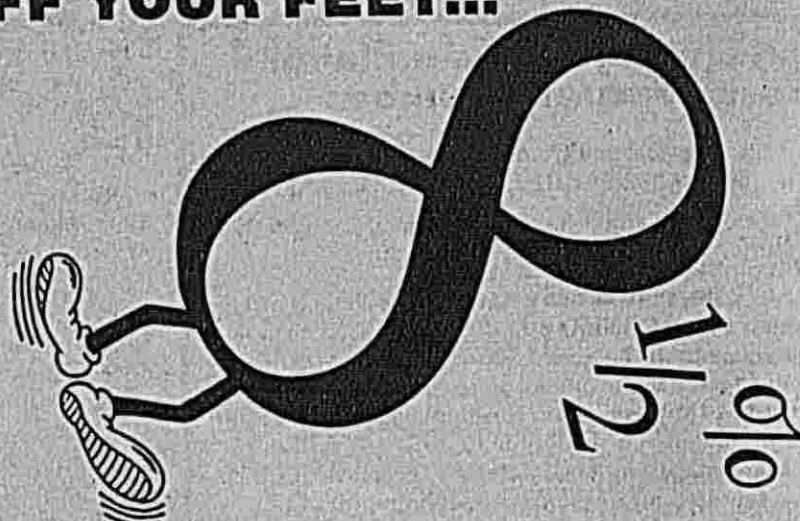

He said he would investigate if the complex's matters before the city council could be held up, the usual action of a violation is found.

No hearing has been set in Lake County Circuit Court, as summons were expected to be served Tuesday and Wednesday. The defendants have 30 days to respond.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

reported by Brosius D'Arcy

Balanced funds are among the most conservative funds you can own. As the name suggests, they are "balanced" between stocks and bonds.

At one time, the proportion of a fund that a portfolio manager could place in either stocks or bonds was restricted. Today, most funds are more liberal with their balances. A portfolio might have a mix of more aggressive securities that closely resemble a growth-and-income fund.

Generally, however, 20 percent to 40 percent of a balanced fund's assets are in bonds or preferred stocks. The remaining portfolio consists primarily of common stock in well-capitalized, established companies.

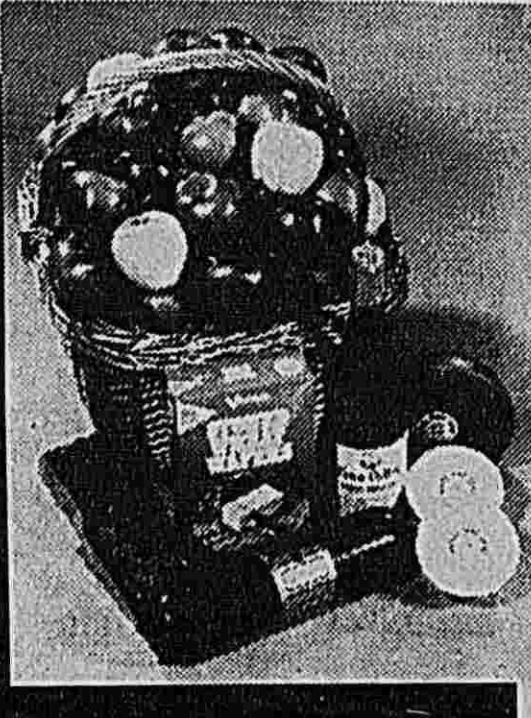

Before you invest in a balanced fund, read the prospectus carefully. Conservative investors, who usually find balanced funds more appealing, may want to determine just how conservative the fund is.

Portfolios must be diversified and balanced although the extent of the diversification isn't clearly defined. To see how successfully a fund accomplishes its stated objectives, study its historical performance.

Film Review

No one believes that Christmas belongs to children more than this country's toy and film makers.

Just before Thanksgiving every year, at least two big "kids" films open and their box offices stay busy through the holidays.

This year, besides the critically acclaimed "Bear," reviewed in the column earlier, we have "All Dogs Go To Heaven," "The Little Mermaid," and "Prancer."

"All Dogs," is an animated detective story with Burt Reynolds giving voice to a reborn murdered dog.

Vic Tayback plays Carface, the villain that Reynold's character comes back to get even with.

The holiday spirit enters with a little orphan, sporting the voice of Judith Barsi, who like all orphans before her, is looking for a good mommy and daddy.

In "Prancer," we have the story of how a wounded reindeer, who is suspected of being one of Santa's eight, brings the Christmas spirit to Sam Elliot and his daughter.

Of course we can't have a kids' Christmas without Walt Disney Studios whose offering this year is the animated version of Hans Christian Anderson's famous "Little Mermaid." The usual fantastic Disney songs are present. Of course, the animation is top notch, and who could fail with the tried and true Anderson plot? All of these rate 4.5 children's stars out of five. Take the kids and you might catch yourself enjoying these bits of fantasy.

"Mr. Pickwick — Stories For A Christmas Evening," will be presented at 2 and 8 p.m., on Dec. 2, at the Woodstock Opera House.

Victory Lakes Annual Festival of Arts and Crafts will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Dec. 2, at Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center.

Makes 'Nutcracker' magic

A colorful holiday production, "The Magic of the Nutcracker" Sunday, Dec. 10 at 2 and 7 p.m. Dancing the role of Clara will have its debut at Libertyville High's Butler Auditorium on be Nikki White of Great Lakes.

Victorian Christmas at Cook House

For the 17th consecutive year, on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 2 and 3, and again on Dec. 9 and 10, the Ansel B. Cook Home, 413 North Milwaukee Ave. in Libertyville, will be open to the public for the annual Victorian Christmas.

Hours for touring the home will be 1 to 5 p.m. on all four days.

From the moment visitors enter the huge front door of the house, built in 1878, they will be transported back to a time when handmade Christmas decorations depicted the care and skill required to create them.

Completely refurbished as it was in the late 1800s, the house at this time of year is especially colorful. The ornate railing on the stairway leading to the second floor is adorned with holly and garland. Holiday knickknacks from bygone years decorate the mantels on several fireplaces.

Entering the front parlor, visitors will see a Christmas tree of yesteryear, covered with candles, antique, hand-made ornaments and draped with popcorn garland.

In the second parlor, an old-fashioned pump organ will be played by members of the Libertyville High School music department. Christmas carols also will be sung by this group.

The dining room, with a table set for four people, will feature some of the added touches the Cook family probably felt were appropriate for the holiday. Glassware, silverware, fine china and napkins, with old-time silver rings holding them neatly in place wait for the Christmas feast to begin.

A large collection of pots, pans and cooking utensils stand like sentries, guarding the wood-burning stove in the kitchen. All the ingredients for making cookies cover the antique table in this room, just as they did when the Cook family lived in the house.

On the second floor, visitors will see the bedrooms, plus period clothing, toys and hundreds of other items commonly in use during the Victorian days.

Photographs of happenings in Libertyville many, many years ago cover the walls in the hallway and in Ansel Cook's study; shaving mugs of former local residents rest quietly on a shelf next to numerous very old books.

The Cook home is maintained year-round and decorated for the Victorian Christmas by the Libertyville-Mundelein Historical Society. Members of this society will be present on the four-day celebration to act as tour guides.

There is a $1 donation for touring the house to help defray the cost of preserving this priceless part of Libertyville's heritage.

Ideas for 'Left-Over' Turkey

This year, why not try some new creative ideas using your leftover turkey meat.

For years I so enjoyed my Mother's turkey soup and turkey pot pie recipes.

But lately, I've found that experimenting can bring new ooh's and aah's at the table.

Here are some of my new favorites using pasta, rice and cheese. I hope you like them, too...

Leftover turkey can be refrigerated up to three days before using. To freeze, slice the white breast meat and cube or dice the scrappier pieces. Package and freeze in premeasured amounts of one cup each. Use within two months.

This is an attractive and quiche-like pie, using white rice as a crust. Serve in wedges with a crisp, green salad and hot French bread.

Turkey Broccoli-Rice Pie

- 1 cup frozen, cut broccoli, thawed and drained
- 2 tsp. lemon juice
- 3/4 cup uncooked long grain rice
- 1 1/2 cup diced, cooked turkey
- 1 1/2 cup shredded Swiss cheese
- 1/4 cup onion, shredded
- 1 cup milk
- 4 eggs
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper

Heat oven to 350 degrees Fahrenheit. Generously grease a 10-inch pie pan. Pour lemon juice over chopped broccoli; set aside. Cook rice according to package directions. With fork, lightly press hot rice evenly over bottom and up sides of pan, forming crust. Layer turkey, cheese, broccoli and onion over crust.

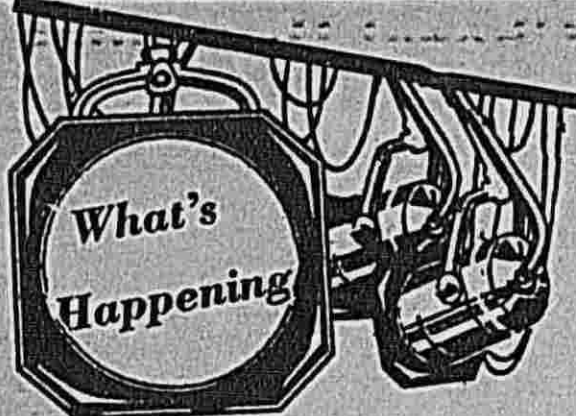

In small bowl, combine milk, eggs, salt and pepper; heat well. Pour over turkey mixture. Bake at 350 degrees Fahrenheit for 45 to 50 minutes, or until knife inserted near center comes out clean. Let stand 10 minutes before service. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Though she traveled all over the world when her husband was in the military, Randy Rian-Dayhuff and her family are now a Lindenhurst residents.

She brings her worldly epicurean knowledge, some gained in the cooking classes she took in France and Italy, to Lake Countians through her new cooking column.

Randee's recipes are from those she has collected while teaching culinary art classes in southern California.

With her daughter Alexis, not only her cook's helper, her sternest critic and brightest pupil, Randee specializes in the preparing of Chinese, Mexican and Italian cuisine.

Musician/Storyteller to entertain

Lanza to appear with Choral Dynamics, Inc.

by VIRGINIA KRUEGER

Victor Lanza, son of Mario Lanza, has been astounding audiences in the Chicagoland area recently with his dynamic singing. The resonant quality of his voice, sounding much like his father, yet containing a unique characteristic of his own, quickly gains admirers.

Lanza, a fairly new arrival to the United States has graced several dinner clubs where he sings the songs Mario was noted for.

It was at one such club that Gerry Traxler was amazed and impressed at the brilliance, timbre and power, not to mention the extremely high tenor range achieved by Victor.

These, he recalled were the same qualities that had so endeared Mario as "the peoples' singer." Traxler didn't hesitate in inviting Victor Lanza to appear as guest soloist in the Gerry Traxler Choral Dynamics musicale scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 20 and 21. Victor gave his consent and will appear in both segments of the show.

The show, "Opening Night Notes" will have a Broadway-Movieland setting. This, along with colorful costumes will take the audience on a song-filled journey with Broadway, Hollywood and Tin Pan Alley hit songs plus, a few exciting musical side trips.

Opening night curtain, both nights, will be at 8 p.m., at the Libertyville High School, located on Rte. 176, in Libertyville.

Along with the appearance of Lanza, the show will feature solo and group numbers by the many talented members of the chorus. There will be several appearances by the vivacious young choral dancers to highlight the singers, accompanied by a vibrant rhythm combo of bass, drums, guitar, piano and synthesizer plus, a brass quartet featured on three of the numbers.

Beneficiaries cooperating with Choral Dynamics Inc., to raise funds with these performances are, Lake Shore Youth Services and Warren Twp. High School Choir.

Advance tickets are $6 for adults and $3 for students under 12. Tickets at the door will be $7 and $4 respectively. Advance tickets may be purchased from choral members, above mentioned beneficiaries, or by calling, (708)566-0990.

Kirk Players rehearse 24th season opener

The Kirk Players' 24th season opener, "Noises Off" by Michael Frayn, will be presented at the Mundelein High School theater on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 1 and 2, at 8 p.m. It is the most technically challenging production that the Players have ever undertaken.

"The two-story set, which includes a staircase and working balcony, must be completely reversed between acts one and two," reports Bob Thomas of Barrington, the show's technical director and set designer.

"Then we have to turn it back again during the second intermission." There is also an extensive property list, which includes an endless parade of sardines and a large fire axe. Beth Thilmany and June Peterson of Mundelein, along with Joanne Cowen of Camp Lake, Wis., are coordinating the props effort.

Director John W. Lynn described "Noises Off" as a hilarious play-within-a-play that requires spontaneous character changes and split second timing. Nearly every actor is provided the rare opportunity of portraying two separate roles throughout the show.

Leslie Lynn emerges as the show's British director, Lloyd Dallas, who must constantly console and cajole his temperamental actresses.

Dotty's backstage love interest Garry LeJeune, played by Russ Slade of Mundelein, is also introduced to us as Roger Tramplemaine, the handsome leading man.

Tramplemaine is accompanied by Vicki, the scantily clad blonde, who is also known as the lovely actress Brooke Ashton. This important dual role will be handled by veteran Player Paula Willems of Mundelein.

Frederick Fellows, who plays the character of Philip Brent in "Nothing On," is a method actor with theater is his blood. Bob Thomas is pulling quadruple duty as he tackles this role along with his technical director, set design and set decoration assignments.

Mundelein's Debbie Mieszala takes the stage as Belinda Blair, the level headed actress who plays Flavia Brent in this show-within-a-show.

Thom Kock, Jr., of Vernon Hills will portray the semi-retired burglar, who is actually the company's tipsy 70-year-old character actor Seldson Mowbray. He will also be designing lights for the show and assisting with the set design.

The show's cast is completed by the stage manager of "Nothing On," Tim Allgood, played by Gurnee's Stu Armstrong, and his sweet young assistant Poppy Norton-Taylor, played by guest performer Janelle Rae Zarada of Lake Zurich.

This Kirk Player production will be stage managed by Janic Ann Slade of Mundelein, while her husband, Royden, heads up sound. Maureen Cook Slade, also of Mundelein, is coordinating costumes and will keep the audience comfortable as house manager.

Proceeds from "Noises Off" will be donated to Omni Youth Service/Greenhouse Program.

Tickets are $5 for adults, $3 for students and $2 for senior citizens and children under 12. They are available from representatives of the Omni Youth Service, the Kirk Players, or may be purchased at the door. For further information, call (708)566-6594.

Obituaries

Joseph W. Comstock

age 76 years old of Spring Grove, formerly of Antioch, and Willard, Wisconsin passed away Saturday, Nov. 25, 1989 at his home.

He was born Oct. 24, 1913 in Athens, Ohio. He served in the U.S. Army during World War II and was a member of the V.F.W. Mr. Comstock was a respected teacher in the Antioch Grade School System for many years before his retirement.

Survivors include his wife Elizabeth; two sons David B. (Diana) of Mt. Pulaski, Illinois and Allen G. (Barbara) of Antioch; one daughter Elizabeth C. "Libby" (Donald) Johnson of Waukegan; three sisters and seven grandchildren.

Graveside services were held at 11:00 a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 29, 1989 at the Millburn Cemetery. Arrangements entrusted to the Strang Funeral Home, Antioch.

It's a practical part of estate planning.

In addition to drawing up a will to put your estate in order, pre-planning funeral arrangements is important, too. And making practical decisions now about the service, burial and costs spares your family from having to make difficult decisions in times of grief. Call us today for confidential information about all the advantages of pre-planning.

Russell W. Marsh died August 25, 1989 and I, Terry H. Marsh his son, vow to keep the same high standard of professionalism and integrity at the Marsh Funeral Homes Ltd. of Waukegan and Gurnee.

I do not believe in solicitation by phone, mailings or luncheons. However, I strongly recommend as a hedge against inflation that consumers become educated with the significant monetary advantages of prepaid funerals. If you are confronted with phone or mail solicitation be certain to get two or three comparisons with regard to facilities, licensed professional services and merchandise. As a consumer, you deserve it!

I believe prepaid funerals are in your best interest

This is why Marsh Funeral Home Ltd. offers two prepaid options. Please consider making an appointment with a member of our competent staff for a free consultation. You are under no obligation to buy. I would also like to thank the many families who have given us the opportunity to serve them since 1938.

Thank You,

Terry H. Marsh

CRESTON

SECOND FLOOR PLAN

MAIN FLOOR PLAN

The contemporary-style Creston fits the needs of either families with young children or empty nesters who like to accommodate occasional visitors. And it's compact enough to fit on a standard-size city lot.

Each of the three basic components of the main living area—living room, dining room and kitchen—is set at a right angle to the garage. This gives visual interest to the exterior, while avoiding the awkward inner angles that can create interior decorating nightmares.

A large eating nook gives a spacious feeling to the otherwise compact kitchen. The eating bar offers additional food preparation and storage space and there's also a large walk-in pantry. Sliding glass doors in both the nook and the dining room provide light as well as access to the patio.

The utility room has everything—washer, dryer, utility sink, cupboards, shelves and counters. Eliminating the large lower cupboard on one side would leave space for a freezer. A door from the two-car garage opens directly into the utility room so grease from automobile maintenance need never be tracked through the house. It also gives groceries a quick route from car to kitchen.

The master bath is luxurious, with two garden windows, a spa tub, a neo-angle shower and a nearby walk-in closet. In the third bedroom, the dormer window forms a cozy nook for reading, sewing or just daydreaming.

Selecting Christmas trees

In the upcoming weeks, a lush fragrance will envelop households like a festive, invisible wrapping paper. Fresh pine.

With Thanksgiving over, the Christmas season has begun. Perhaps the most dominant and essential decoration of the holiday is the Christmas tree.

Years ago, families relied on the forest to provide a tree. Today, most Christmas trees are commercially grown on tree farms, which are called plantations.

At the 80-acre Chiodo Farms in Independence Township, Joe Chiodo has been spending much of his time of late unloading the flatbed trucks that bring freshly cut evergreen trees from Pennsylvania and Ohio.

"It used to be that people just put up one tree," Mrs. Chiodo said. "But now so many people put up more than one tree... one for the kid's room, one for the foyer and one for the living room."

Finely shaped trees just don't grow that way. They must be pruned, shaped, watered and sprayed, Chiodo said. Some sprays, like the environmentally safe sprays he uses, require more frequent applications than do other brands.

Alan Dambach of Lake Forest Gardens in Fombell said the Scotch pine, the most popular tree in western Pennsylvania, requires seven to nine years of care before it is ready for market.

People are now buying and decorating their Christmas trees earlier than they used to.

"It used to be that people would put it up the day before Christmas," said Larry Kuhns, a Penn State professor of horticulture. "If you are going to bring it in early, you have to get a tree that has good needle retention."

"If you are going to bring it in the week of Christmas, then you can get just about anything."

Once the tree is home, a fresh cut should be made in the base of the trunk and the tree placed in water mixed with a preservative.

The tree will drink a large amount of water in the first few days. The water level should not dip below the cut; otherwise, a seal will form and prevent the tree from absorbing water.

A tree with a high moisture content is about as flammable as a damp leaf, Dambach said.

Warren tops first cager report

Beginning this week and throughout the 1989-90 basketball season, Lakeland Newspapers will present the top five area teams in the "Cager Report" for boys basketball. This year's coverage area includes some 11 high schools.

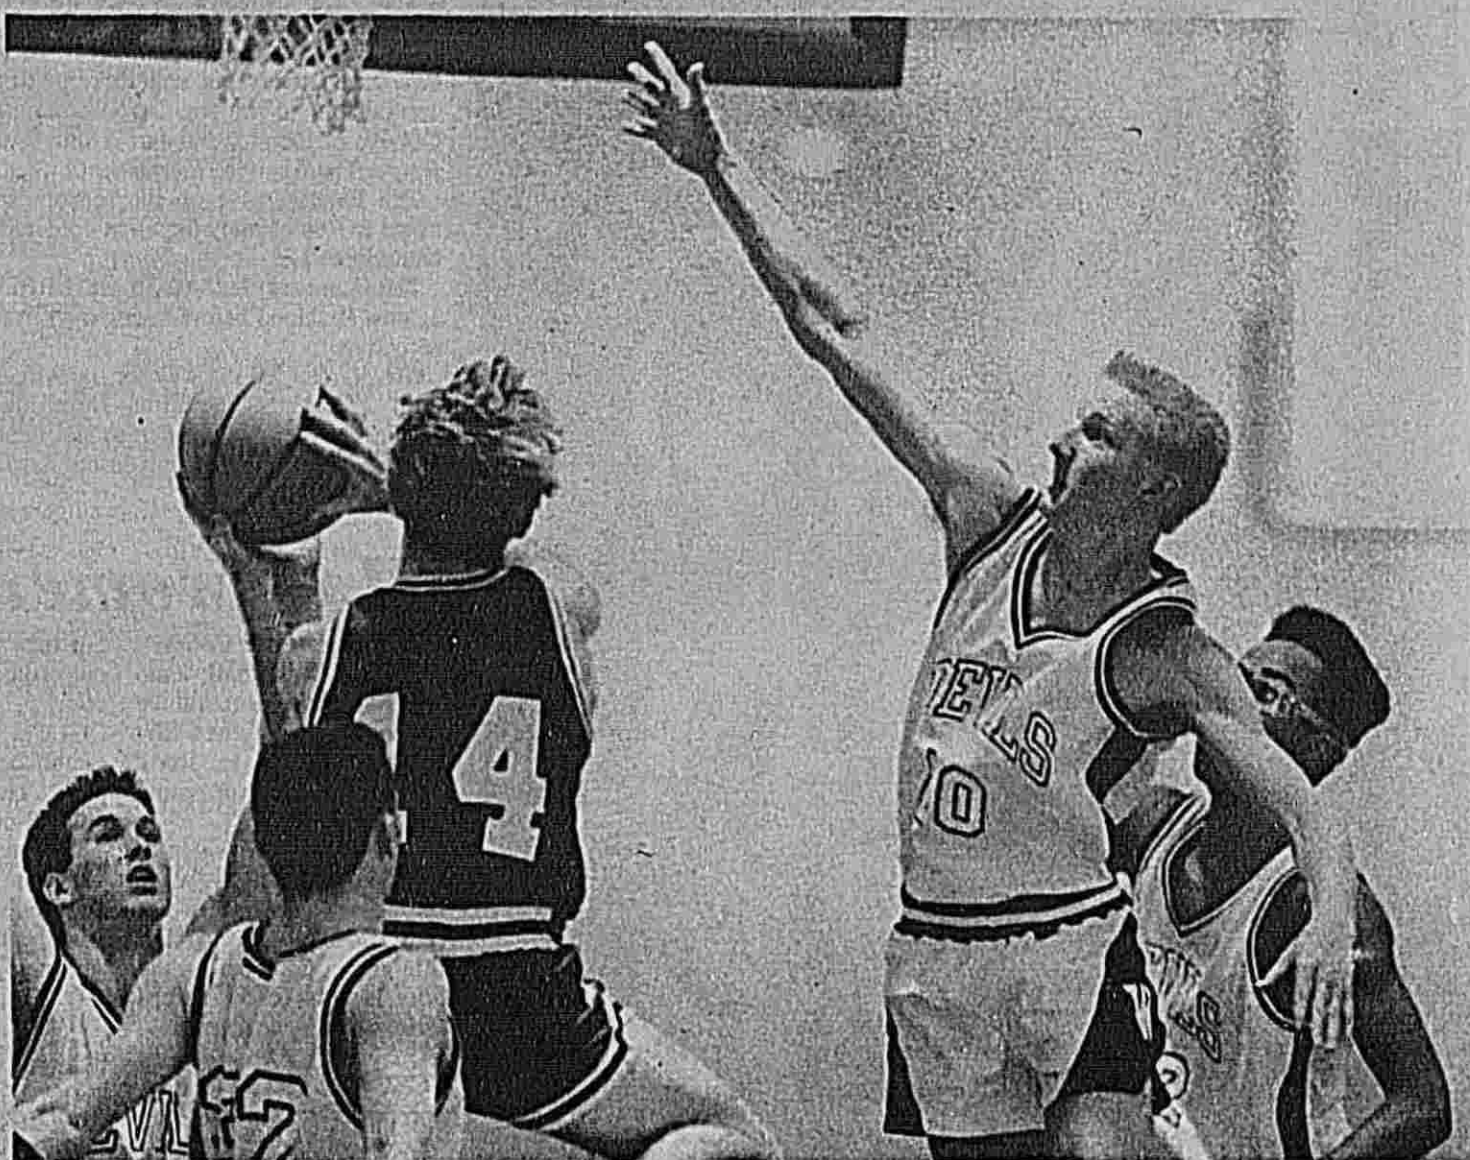

1. Warren: the Blue Devils start the new season right where they left off last year - at the top of Cager Report. Warren went 3-0 to win its own tournament. Look for sharp-shooting group of Blue Devils this winter, as Warren was seven-for-17 from three-point range, with senior Dave Spiller leading the way against Carmel. Next game: North Suburban Conference opener at rival Antioch Dec. 1.

2. Round Lake: Panthers also went 3-0 to capture own tournament and won it with defense, not allowing opposition more than 50 points. Senior center Scott Hall was the leader, finishing with 18 points against Zion-Benton in 66-49 win. Next game: Northwest Suburban Conference opener at Marian Central Dec. 1.

3. Richmond-Burton: Rockets won Johnsonburg tournament with three wins, leading Coach Scott Brunswick to state "it's been a long time since Richmond-Burton has been 3-0." Roger Hauri and Eric Miller both had 43 points for three games and Hauri was named Most Valuable Player. Jon Urban has regained his shooting touch for Rockets. Next game: at home Dec. 1 against North Boone in Big Eight Conference opener.

4. Carmel: finished 2-1 at Warren despite three different starting lineups. Ed Haravon, a 6-5 junior, stepped to the forefront against Warren to compliment Sean Ryan. Next game: at home Dec. 1 against St. Patrick in East Suburban Catholic Conference opener.

5. Mundelein: yes, the Mustangs are back. MHS went 2-1 in own tournament behind Shawn Harlan and Jeff Winckler's scoring punch. Next game: at home against Lake Forest Dec. 1 in North Suburban Conference opener.

Teaming their efforts

Four Warren defenders join their efforts to stop Waukegan in its Thanksgiving tournament to win championship. League West's Richard Watson from going in for a layup. Runnin' Blue Devils race to claim title

By STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

When the Warren Blue Devils basketball coaching staff appears on the visitors bench at Antioch High Dec. 1, Coach Darrel Bader may be tempted to bring along a white towel to be hung from a shoulder.

If the Warren offense keeps up this pace, the team may very well be named the Runnin' Blue Devils - move over University of Nevada Las Vegas and Jerry Tarkanian.

Warren topped the 70 point plateau for the third straight game in capturing its own Thanksgiving tournament title with a 73-65 win over arch-rival Carmel.

"We knew we could shoot. We opened up the offense and we are not running so much pattern and pushing it up and taking the shot. We think these kids can do that," Bader said.

The atmosphere at Warren was not unlike the last time these two friendly foes met - in March when Warren won 66-65 in triple overtime. The crowd was not quite standing room only, but the intensity more than made up for it.

In the end, both Lake County powerhouses could point to positives.

Carmel could look back on how it responded to an 18-point deficit.

"The first two nights we had real good composure. Tonight, in the first quarter we weren't doing the things that spelled success for us in the first two games. In the third and fourth quarter we started to execute a little better. That's an area we have a lot of work to do on. That's just a very good team we lost to. They have a lot of different weapons," Carmel Coach Scott Rosberg said.

The Blue Devils dazzled the crowd with a seven-for-17 shooting from three-point range giving them 13 for the last two games. Dave Spiller led the assault from afar with three-for-five and finished with 20 points. A slender 5-11 160 pound junior Steve Karolewicz slid through bigger Carmel defenders for key second half baskets and finished with 14 points. Mark Sasser, who earlier scored 30 points in a 90-68 win over Palatine Fremd, had 14 first half points.

Going into the season, Bader said rebounding could be a team weakness.

"We survived on the boards. But I felt our weakness showed in our post defense," he said.

"It's too bad and yet it is also neat that we play them at the beginning of the year, and we go through three and one-half months and you don't see them again. But you see them at the end of the year and sometimes it is two completely different teams," Rosberg said.

Rosberg was pleased with his team's showing. And the Corsairs had to overcome three different starting lineups in as many games. Sean Ryan and Dan Gramm started all three games but the other three positions were interchanged. Ed Haravon led CHS with 14 points.

"He showed he could do the job on the boards. We knew he could but he showed he could in the varsity game. He showed what he could do in terms of execution.

"He and Sean are a real nice tandem which was nice to have two taller kids," Rosberg said.

The Corsairs were playing without 6-3 Eric Maloney, who was attending a family obligation, a fact the Blue Devils were not aware of during warm-ups.

"I think we will be OK in terms of depth. If something is not working, we can go to someone else," Rosberg, whose team opens East Suburban Catholic Conference play by hosting St. Patrick Dec. 1, said.

Warren and Carmel were deadlocked in a close game with Carmel cutting a Warren lead to two points on two Jim Cooney baskets.

Then it was time for the Dave Spiller Show.

Spiller, who scored 36 points in the scrimmage game to commence the season, had eight points in a run as Warren made seven of 10 third quarter shots. A three-point play the traditional way by Spiller gave the Blue Devils an apparently safe 58-40 lead.

Ryan then broke the Warren post defense twice for hoops to bring Carmel back to live.

Bader said he settled his troops down with a timeout with 5:24 left after a Ryan layup cut it to 58-52.

Karolewicz then took over, with a put-back, a jump shot and a three-pointer to pace Warren to a 13-point lead.

Graduates Update

Tom Jessee, a graduate of Lake Zurich High School, is a power forward for the Augustana College basketball team this winter. Jessee, a former all-Northwest Suburban Conference player, has come back healthier than ever and improved on his strength. His sophomore year saw Jessee, 6-7, 210 pounds, with limited playing time, playing in 22 games but he averaged 2.5 points and 1.5 rebounds a game. He was credited with 14 assists.

A total of 11 returning letterwinners plus all five starters from last year has given Augustana Head Coach Jim Leix reason to be optimistic. The Vikings were 12-14 last year, 5-11 in the Collegiate Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin.

"Without question, there is more maturity out there. I sense an atmosphere of wanting to get it done, a no non-sense approach about things. It is an attitude which I really like seeing," Leix, in his sixth year at the Rock Island school, said.

Meanwhile at Elmhurst College, Ingleside resident Jason Bullman is a member of the Bluejays men's basketball team. Bullman, a 6-6 center, is a freshman at Elmhurst. He is a 1989 graduate of Grant Community High School and is the son of Mr. Lawrence and Mrs. Lois Bullman.

Green for two

Green paces Lancers in tournament victory

College of Lake County's men's basketball team put together a strong second half to top Richland Community College of Decatur and earn a split in the Harper Thanksgiving tournament.

The Lancers, 4-1 on the season, will travel to Rock Valley for a non-conference battle Dec. 2.

The Lancers led 40-38 at halftime against Richland before taking over in the second half.

Greg Green led the way for the winners with 23 points, including four three-pointers. Green was named to his second all-tournament team of the season. Earlier, Green was named Most Valuable Player of the CLC tourney.

The Lancers had 10 three-point baskets, one shy of the school record.

"We played very poorly the first 15 minutes of the game, but then we came out and played match-up zone," CLC Coach Bruce Smith said.

Mark Bussone, a Grayslake High graduate, complimented Green with 16 points, John Anderson had 15 and Nick Stianos, a Warren grad, had 11.

In the tourney opener, CLC fell to Wright 75-69. Green was high scorer with 18 points and Stianos had 10.

CLC women split games

College of Lake County's women's basketball team will be looking to continue a strong start when the Lancers travel to Rock Valley for a 1 p.m. game Dec. 2.

CLC split two games at the Harper Thanksgiving tournament, losing in the final five seconds of the title game. CLC bested the host Hawks 63-54 before falling to Waubesa 58-57.

CLC led the Chiefs by one point but committed a costly turnover with 18 seconds left, giving Waubesa a shot at the game-winning layup.

"We handled their press pretty well the whole game but they pressed us on the out-of-bounds play," Zeman said.

CLC's bug-a-boo was established long before that play. The Lancers made only 13-of-25 free throws.

"We made only three of 12 in the second half. Had we made more, we would have been able to keep our cushion," Zeman said.

Teri Huntington led CLC with 45 points. Crystal Payne added 11.

Huntington had 18 points in the win over Harper. Candace Blanton, a Waukegan West graduate, scored 17, 15 in the second half as CLC extended a six-point lead. She had two three-point baskets.

"She really sparked us in the second half," Zeman stated.

CHIROPRACTIC OUTLOOK

by DR. C.S. MARTIN, D.C.

The public's traditional perception of the doctor of chiropractic as one occupied solely with adjustments to the spine has changed as the profession has moved into the front lines of more complete health care.

To be sure, we still rely on spinal manipulation to restore nerve supply throughout the body and to eliminate the cause of many diseases. It is a rational, effective approach to healing. Hippocrates recognized this in 400 B.C., when he advised medical students to "look well to the spine for the cause of disease," and described manipulative techniques to alleviate them.

In today's practice, chiropractic doctors may employ such approaches as ultrasound, health therapy, nutritional counseling and other lifestyle matters.

The chiropractor often becomes a family health practitioner involved in primary care, referring patients to specialists when required.

Thank you Lakeland Newspapers for informing the public about our office for the past three years. Look for our column to appear in the Tribune beginning Jan. 1990.

Round Lake's defense gobbles up own tourney

The Round Lake Panthers have a mission each time someone not wearing the gold and blue has the basketball.

"We want to make every possession as difficult as possible for the opposition," Round Lake Coach Bob Ward said.

And more often than not, the Panthers accomplished that mission in winning three straight games and their own Thanksgiving tournament as well.

In crucial situations Friday and Saturday night, our defense really picked up the intensity," Coach Ward said.

The defensive show continues when the Panthers travel to Woodstock to face Marian Central Dec. 1.

Round Lake opened its tourney with an 80-35 thumping of Wauconda, edged McHenry 52-44 and completed the under 50 points mission with an 66-49 win over Zion-Benton.

"One of our goals was to improve in each of the three games and we did," Ward said.

Against the Zee-Becs, now a half-court offense team, the two squads battled mostly on even terms in the first quarter with the home team gaining a slim 16-14 edge.

The second quarter was the turning point, as Round Lake won that stanza 18-10.

Scott Hall, the 6-6 senior center, led Round Lake with 18 points while Wally Ilg contributed 16 and Paul Royane had 12. Ronayne had shared team scoring honors with Ilg as both had 17 points against McHenry.

For Wauconda, which travels to Johnsburg Dec. 1 for its NWSC opener, the Thanksgiving tourney was mostly a turkey.

The Bulldogs fell to Zion-Benton 55-40, Round Lake

80-35 and McHenry 74-49.

"We started out slow on Tuesday but we improved on Friday and Saturday," Wauconda Coach Dave Gardner said.

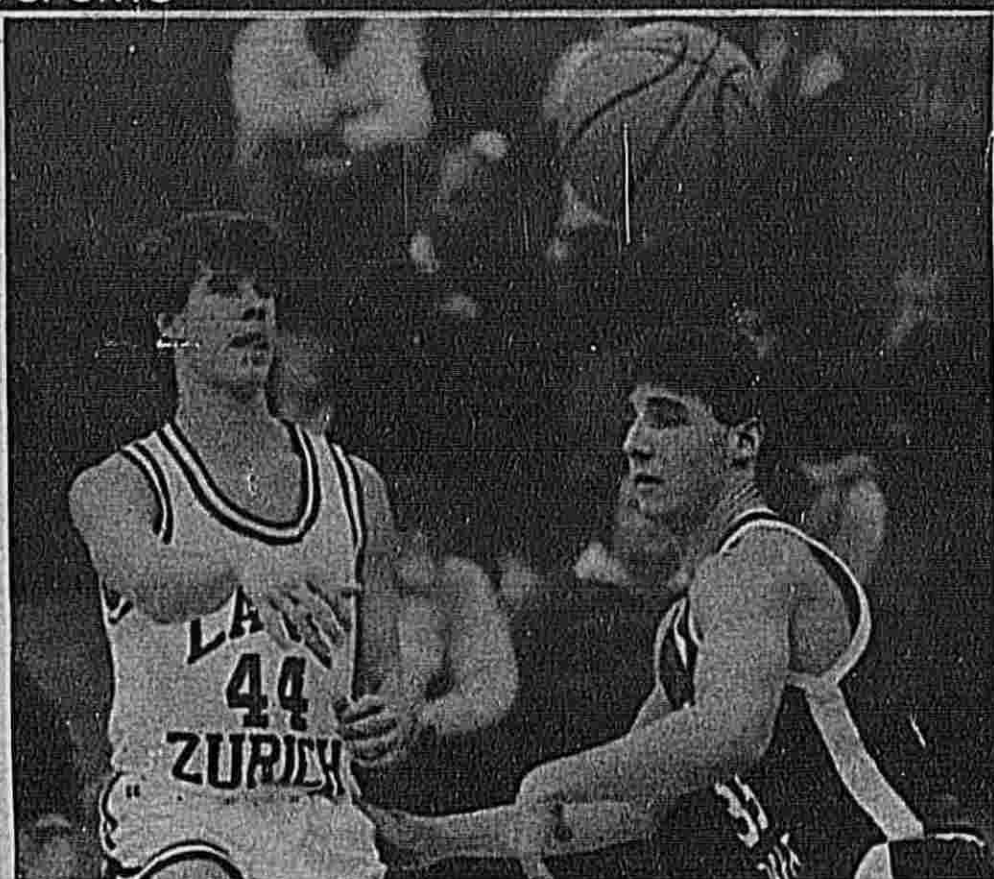

Against McHenry, the Bulldogs trailed only by four points at halftime before the Warriors pulled away.

Outside shooting by the Zee-Becs helped do in the Wauconda defense in the middle game, as Zion connected for six three-pointers.

Scott Suhr had 17 rebounds against the Zee-Becs.

In the contest between the two NWSC teams, Round Lake led 23-6 after eight minutes and never looked back.

Hall paced the winners with 20 points, Ronayne had 11 and Dave Burton and Van Thomas had 10.

Executing a pass

Lake Zurich's Doug Baker hopes this pass gets past defense of Mundelein's Kevin Sekenske in Mundelein Thanksgiving tournament game. Mundelein won contest 70-60. Mundelein, 2-1 in tourney, begins North Suburban Conference games by hosting Lake Forest Dec. 1 while Lake Zurich opens Northwest Suburban Conference play by hosting Marango. - Photo by Joe Shuman.

EYE CARE

News, Views & Questions About Your Eyes

By

Robert L. Epstein, M.D., Director
Illinois Center for Corrective Eye Surgery

QUESTION: Some people see small specs or light flashes that obstruct their vision. Are these a serious eye problem?

ANSWER: Normally, these are not indications of serious eye problems. The small specs are called floaters. Though they appear to be in front of the eye, they are really small clumps that form in the clear, jelly-like fluid inside the eye. They may appear as dots, circles, lines or cobwebs. What you see are the shadows of these clumps on the retina. If they interfere with your vision, move your eye around to swirl the fluid in the eye and move the floater out of the way.

The flashes are caused when the fluid pulls on the retina. If the substance pulls away from the retina, the flashes may last for several weeks. Flashes and floaters often occur with age and usually do not indicate a serious vision problem. If you experience a large number of them with great frequency or if you lose a portion of your field of vision, you should visit your ophthalmologist to have your eyes examined.

Antioch seeks intensity in NSC league opener

"We definitely have to play better against Warren than we did at Loves Park," Antioch boys basketball Coach Jeff Dresser said.

The second-year Antioch mentor was looking for one aspect as the team prepared for the home North Suburban Conference opener Dec. 1.

"We hope to turn up our intensity level," Dresser said.

The Loves Park tournament started on a bright note for the Sequoits, as Antioch used a 16-2 first quarter run to lead to a 70-60 win over the home team. But the next three games featured defeats for Antioch for a 1-3 record.

Matt Pelland, who was consistent throughout the tourney, had 27 points and 17 rebounds in the opener.

Loves Park Harlem answered with a 29 point second quarter as the two teams combined for 51 points in eight minutes.

"The first quarter we shot well and led 18-2 at the start of the second quarter but Loves Park pressured us and we hurried our offense," Dresser said.

Mike Newcomb, a 6-3 guard, had 19 points.

Against Rockton Hononegah, the Sequoits could not overcome a 24-2 Indians stretch in the third quarter.

"We did not play real bad, but their leading scorer had 11 points in the third quarter," Dresser said.

Antioch also could not overcome 24-for-27 shooting by Hononegah.

Pelland had 27 again for Antioch.

The final day of the tournament Saturday saw Antioch lose two games.

Antioch fell to Rockford Guilford 54-39 in the morning game before losing to Rockford Auburn 58-53.

"We just were not fired up to play this game," Dresser said of the Guilford loss.

"Some of the team was intimidated by them. By the time we found we could competitively with them, we were down by 10 or 11 points," Dresser said.

Jeff Becker had 20 points for Antioch.

In the tourney finale, the Sequoits trailed by 19 points in the third quarter before making a rally in the final 12 minutes.

"We totally broke down on offense. We could not run our offense right," Dresser said.

Pelland had 16 points to lead Antioch, Ken Mattson, a senior forward, added 13. Dresser praised the effort of sophomore point guard Tim Fox, who had 10 points.

Girls notch two tourney wins

Antioch girls basketball team has already secured itself of one accomplishment in the 1989-90 season.

With two wins in the first five games, the Sequoits have matched last year's victory total.

"I think the girls are stating to learn how to win," new Coach Al Tamburrino said.

A former assistant coach at Hoffman Estates and Maine East, this is Tamburrino's first head coaching assignment.

"It's kind of a challenge," Tamburrino said.

The Sequoits, after dropping North Suburban Conference games to Warren and Libertyville, beat Elk Grove and Zion-Benton in the Elk Grove tournament.

Liz Johnson shined for three games at Elk Grove, scoring 56 points.

She had 20 points in the 48-39 win over the Zee-Bees. Senior Teri Farnsworth added 10 points and 11 rebounds.

Zion lead in the first half, but Antioch dominated the second half to the tune of 35-18.

Antioch then fell 65-57 to Dundee-Crown. Johnson had 19 points and Farnsworth 14.

The Sequoits used an 8-2 third quarter run to pull away from Elk Grove 40-28.

Johnson had 17 points and 15 rebounds. Mindy Shogren had her second 11 rebound game.

Antioch will host Lake Forest Nov. 30 and Niles North Dec. 2 in NSC contests.
